Typically, students must complete a minimum number of credit hours—usually 12 or more—and earn a semester GPA above a designated threshold, commonly around 3.5 or higher on a 4.0 scale. This rigorous criterion ensures that only those students who consistently perform at an above-average level are recognized. Academic Performance and GPA Benchmarks

In Spring 2018, Virginia Tech students who earned a spot on the Dean's List generally maintained GPAs ranging from 3.5 to 4.0. This range underscores the competitive nature of the recognition. 1. High GPA thresholds (usually above 3.5)

At a demanding institution like Virginia Tech, this can sometimes lead to stress, burnout, or compromise in other areas of student life, such as extracurricular involvement or mental health.

Inclusivity and Diverse Measures of Success

The Dean's List primarily reflects academic grades, which may not fully capture a student's overall contribution or potential. Some argue that recognition systems should also consider leadership, research involvement, community service, and innovation to provide a more comprehensive picture of student excellence.
